In detail

In 2007, James was invited to join the panel of the highly popular BBC TV show Dragons' Den. During his time on the show, James invested in a diverse range of businesses. James founded the Alexander Mann Group in 1985, an executive head-hunting firm with a turnover of £300m and operations in 50 countries which he sold in 2002. James also co-founded Humana International growing the business to over 147 offices across 30 countries from 1993-1999. He is also Chairman of the Board of StartUp Loans, a scheme to give the next generation of entrepreneurs the finance and support to potentially start over 30,000 new businesses.

What he offers you

A leading voice for UK Business, audiences benefit from James' invaluable insight and practical advice on issues such as motivating staff, leadership, scaling businesses and the impact of technology and social media on the business landscape.
