Roger Camrass is an innovative strategist in a connected world

In detail

Roger is the founder of Mozaic Services and was an Executive Director of Fujitsu in Europe, a faculty member of ESADE business school in Spain and a director of a US based hedge fund, Knoll Capital Management. He has exercised his life-long passion for future thinking by undertaking a succession of global research programmes such as 'Business in the Third Millennium' which he led whilst at SRI (Stanford Research Institute). His book 'Atomic: reforming the Business Landscape into the new structures of tomorrow' delivers a convincing vision for the future of work in a truly digital world.

What he offers you

Roger offers expert advice on how to re-invent companies. Roger is able to package and communicate big new ideas to customers and sector partners that help raise brand awareness and related credibility. Roger brings a provocative but well argued view of how business will change in the coming decades and how styles of leadership will need to adapt to a New Digital World.

How he presents

An innovative and provocative thinker with unequalled practical experience, Roger exudes excitement and energy that is infectious to all around him.

Languages

Roger presents in English.
